NetServices plc

Share price comment and trading update

The Company has noted the sharp fall in the Company's share price today. The financial year end of NetServices is 31 August. The Board is currently evaluating the performance for the year, in the light of information still being received. In particular, the Board is reviewing the Company's exposure to its business customers in the wholesale broadband market, a market which remains in a state of flux. Consequently whilst the final outcome for the year is still undetermined it is likely that the loss for the year will significantly exceed market expectations. A post year end trading update will be released at the earliest opportunity.
